ORCHID HYBRIDS OF NOTE

Aranda Noorah Alsagoff

A remarkable Singapore hybrid registered in 1972, regarded for its vigorous and free-flowering nature, and the exceptional substance of its flowers. Its ancestral species originate from the region of Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore and Thailand.

Aranda Pure Heart

A white orchid with pink edges and mottled with dark pink spots. It is a cross between the Arachnis Maggie Oei, a famous hybrid among the regional orchid fraternity, and Vanda Kwa Geok Choo, an orchid named after the late Mrs Lee Kuan Yew. It has ancestor species that originated from the region of Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore and Thailand.

Dendrobium Dawn Maree hybrid

Dendrobium sect. Spatulata hybrid

A hybrid with origins in Malaysia and Thailand. It has cream coloured petals with a splash of colours in the form of a bright orange lip. Flowers can last an incredible two to three months, and are produced almost continuously throughout the year.	Commonly known as “antelope Dendrobiums” due to their upright, spiral petals resembling two horns. Its species ancestors can be found in Indonesia. Flowers are long lasting, for up to three months.
Paphiopedilum Maudiae hybrid  These hybrids have ancestors that are native to Malaysia, Indonesia and Thailand. Commonly known as slipper orchids, they are named for their unique shoe-shaped lip, and are found in various shades from green to dark wine, with spotted or striped patterned petals.	Papilionanda Mimi Palmer  A heritage orchid of Singapore named after Mimi Lim Palmer, the granddaughter of Dr Lim Boon Keng, it emits a very sweet scent reminiscent of grape cordial. The exhibited plants are a reddish-brown mutant of the normally blueish-grey flowers It has species ancestors native to the region of Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Malaysia, and Thailand.

Phalaenopsis Fuller's Sunset

A moth orchid hybrid with yellow flowers with a contrasting pink lip. It has ancestry that can be traced to the region of Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia and Malaysia. Yellow is a difficult colour to breed into standard Phalaenopsis orchids.

Phalaenopsis Sogo Yukidian

This beautiful moth orchid has a long inflorescence of large, white flowers. The origins of the hybrid's ancestor species can be traced to Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, and Malaysia. It is reminiscent of Phalaenopsis amabilis, one of the national flowers of Indonesia

Renanstylis Bangkok Beauty

Gardens
by the Bay

This hybrid has long inflorescences of beautiful red flowers that are marked by very faint, white stripes. Its ancestor species have roots in countries such as Malaysia and Thailand. Originated in Thailand, its maternal parent is a Singaporean hybrid.

Johor Language of Love by Yayasan Warisan Johor

Flowers are an embodiment of love, and encompass devotion, purity, tenderness, and passion. These elements are the very elements reflected in the graceful movements of the Zapin dance.

Incorporating traditional rhythmic music and lighthearted moments of romance, the dance conveys the intimacy and depth of passion between couples, while also preserving an air of modesty. Using flowers as a symbol, the performance is a reflection of hope and love, as the hearts of the couple are intertwined. Dancers will be wearing the Kain Benang Johor, a type of traditionally-woven cloth from Johor.

The captivating performance of traditional music, along with the graceful movements of the Zapin dance, creates an enchanting tapestry that celebrates love, passion, and the cherished traditions of Johor by preserving and celebrating the cultural legacy of the region.

Date: Sunday, 20 August 2023

Time: 11.00am, 2.00pm and 4.00pm

Location: The Baobabs in Flower Dome
